WE NOMINATE

Daniel Francis Sullivan, a hard-driving and long-visioned Princetonian, who is wrestling with some of the most difficult problems confronting this highly industrialized state. As statewide supervisor of training under the Manpower Development and Training Act, an integral part of the Nation's "War on Poverty," this 51-year old native of Newark is concerned with such basic matters as "workers displaced by new machinery," "the under-employed worker whose job is fading away," and "the totally unskilled high school drop-out with no hope for any kind of gainful employment without training of some kind."

Recruited early in the fall by the State Department of Education for this challenging assignment, Sullivan has brought to his responsibilities experience gained in three distinct but related careers: as a teacher in New Jersey schools, as a regularly commissioned officer in the U. S. Air Force, and as an "educator" in major industry. Today, drawing heavily upon his backgrounds, he is overseeing an expanding, college-size operation, in which some $6 million in Federal funds are sustaining 43 different training programs involving about 7,000 residents of New Jersey.

Sullivan and his associates work closely with the State Division of Employment Security, which is charged with recruiting labor and is constantly assessing the changing needs of industry. As shortages of workers develop, or as industry and government pinpoint future needs, the word goes out, and Sullivan's staff enters the picture. The objective is to provide "almost overnight" educational programs enabling individuals either to change old habits, or to acquire new skills, so that they can qualify for new jobs in the ever-fluctuating job market. In brief, as Sullivan notes, federal funds are used to "buy time until trainees can catch up."

Sullivan, emphasizing that New Jersey has been training less than 3 per cent of its high school population in non-academic trades because of the dearth of vocational facilities, has taken leadership in broadening a number of programs, including one updating the knowledge of nurses who want to return to the field of medicine. Here in Mercer County, which Sullivan came to know as well as the back of his hand in his years as supervisor of training with DeLaval Turbine Inc., classes are being developed to cope with the County's demonstrated shortages of welders, automobile mechanics, cooks, and nursing aides and hospital orderlies.

A Phi Beta Kappa member of the Class of 1936 at Rutgers, where he earned his master's degree in education in 1938, Sullivan taught for some five years in New Jersey high schools. Called to active duty in 1941 as a "ROTC Lieutenant," he served with the Air Force for the next 13 years, including two years (1952-1954) as a member of the Department of Air Science at Princeton University. Weeks after his return to civilian life in October, 1954, he joined DeLaval and for the next decade played key roles in area-wide programs involving cooperative effort by industry and education.

For embarking upon a trail-blazing task of front-rank significance to New Jersey; for imaginatively and energetically developing programs which men and women can use as springboards into more rewarding futures; for seeking to "avert poverty cycles before they engulf potential job-holders"; he is TOWN TOPICS nominee as

OVERTURE!

"The Nutcracker," A Sugar Plum Fairy and her handsome prince, a preening, dancing Candy Cane, a myriad of excited little snowflakes and gracefully waiting flowers will come to life for Princeton this Friday night when the Princeton Regional Ballet's production of "The Nutcracker" marks the second year of a new Princeton Christmas tradition.

Opening night for "The Nutcracker" will be Friday at 8:00 at McCarter. A Saturday matinee has been sold out, but tickets are still on hand for

More than 100 dancers from all over central New Jersey will swirl on and off the McCarter stage on this festive holiday. Andrea Esfey and Lila Brunner have designed the choreography. The music, of course, is Tchaikovsky's beloved score. Actually, much of the music will be new to the audience because the Regional Ballet is giving the entire Nutcracker including the prologue and both acts. Incidentally, instead of last year's two piano "orchestra," there will be the taped performances of the London Symphony and L'Orchestre de la Suisse Romande.

Curtain Going Up. Places everyone? Here we go. It's rehearsal night in the mirror-lined Princeton Ballet Society studios on Alexander Street. Schedule: The Prologue scene, with President Silberhaus (Arthur Lithgow) and Frau Silberhaus (Joan Lucas) and their children, Debbie Smith and Kevin Thermo) playing host on Christmas Eve to their friends.

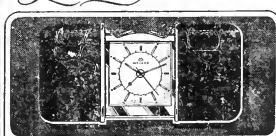

Toy Train? In the midst of the "Gulden," the dainty clatters and whistles by on its noisy track, and the music is temporarily rerouted out of hearing, but nobody minds.

It is cool in the airy studio. Debbie wears a parka over her leotard. A tall blonde points on blue hand-knit mittens over regulation rehearsal tights. Andrea Esfey, directing, wears a fur coat.

"Christmas Can Also Be for Them"

From the 1965 TOWN TOPICS Christmas Appeal

A 34-year-old 26-year old mother, whose devoted husband died tragically a year ago in an airplane crash, is mourning all over again following her recent discharge from a mental institution and her reunion with a 3-year old daughter, who feels that her mother is a total stranger and often becomes hysterically unmanageable in her presence. Sleep by step, aided by skilled counselors, the two together are making headway. Diane is starting to speak in a normal pitch rather than to scream, her appetite in nursery school is improving and she now is edging away from the release doctors feared if the situation failed to improve.

Six days after the Appeal was first published, $1,106.23 had been received as TOWN TOPICS reports, the Fund is now obligated to provide Christmas for these two women there might otherwise be none, but the greater need is for year "round assistance that will mean "the difference between despair and hope between anxiety and faith in all things that count."

Contributions may be left at TOWN TOPICS, 4 Mercer Street, or mailed to P.O. Box 604 Princeton, N.J. 08540. Checks should be made payable to The Town Topics Christmas Fund.

meyer the Godfather, assumes an old man's hobble and enters the scene, pretending to be his Christmas gift, a 12-inch wooden nutcracker turned like a soldier, and everybody crowds around to see perform.

Soon the guests quietly depart and Debbie is left alone to dance over her nutcracker perhaps a prince in disguise.

Enter, Mice. With professional aplomb, following only a music cue, three tiny "Baby Mice" tiptoe across the studio floor. They look more like a well-battered little mouse than a mouse, but a mouse she is and very proud.

Sus is Margaret Macdaniel, Kinnearcraft with only four Christmases under the leotard, but surely this fifth one will be the best of all, and perhaps one Christmas she will achieve the high point of "The Nutcracker," the pas de deux between the Sugar Plum Fairy this year, it's Little Rameau and her Cavalier (Ramon Serrano).

Meanwhile, dancers waiting for cue are practicing, practicing always, practicing. A top-headed boy in a red plaid shirt turns and turns, watching his technique in the mirror or wall. Little girls huddle and flex never still, never still.

Finally the rehearsal is over. "That was pretty rough," Mrs. Esley says, breezily. "With people missing and everything..." (It looked great to at least one audience member.)

Arthur Lithgow, a professional director himself occasionally as Mrs. Esley explains what she wants. Suddenly, she spins toward a little boy in shiny pants. "AAKE TILT GUSI OUT OF Y O U R R."

"MOUTH!" she says, in a voice full of tears.

In Early Start, "Nutcracker" preparations have been bustling along since June. Mrs. Stuart Foote selected all the costumes on her designer's board, and Mrs. Gladys Taylor and Mrs. Ralph Higgins sewed each one. Stephen Hendricks, recently retired from the army, had designed for last year and blocked out stage mechanisms with McGarvey's experts.

Then in October when dancers gathered after the summer, casting and rehearsals began. Dorothy Pettit was chosen to enter the Candy Cane and Isobel Johnson the Snow Queen. Elmer Coffee became the Arabian Prince.

Mr. Coffee will be married only a few days after her performance in "The Nutcracker." Buscayni LaRocca was tapped as the Spanish dancer. Snowflakes and Mice, Flowers and Boys and Girls, all of them absolutely wonderful! exclaims Mrs. Esley. "The boys and hours they put into rehearsal — every Sunday for three or four hours and seven hours last Sunday and such discipline! And the mothers and fathers who give up their time..."

Sh... And now everything is ready. It is figuratively speaking, The Night Before Christmas.

In a backroom, where hind quarters of beef used to hang when the studios were Rose-dale Lockers, hang rows and rows of silent costumes.

Bellows of blue and violet get for the "Wall of the Flowers," a grey terrycloth mask for a rat soldier glimmering golden birds from Arabia, (read from George Balanchine), boys' velvet jackets in jewel tones, forisims, brocade veils for fathers, and whirling clouds of tulle snowflakes.

The quiet will burst open on Friday and the sugar-plum music of Tchaikowsky will spin its Christmas magic.

"It is our Christmas present," says Mrs. Esley, "to Princeton."

Meanwhile, we will accept the return of "Golf Ball Coolers" purchased from us for full credit.

"YES" TO BOROUGH HALL

Tentative Plans Shown. "I am personally convinced that construction of this building will in no way interfere with Borough/Township cooperation and may even enhance it," commented Mayor Henry B. Patterson Tuesday night just before Council voted unanimously to appropriate $500,000 for a new Borough Hall construction, fees, interest, contingencies, and even the money to pay for a moving van.

The spectre of Borough Township division hung over the brief public hearing.

"This ordinance may determine the future pattern of Borough/Township relations," warned Fred English, 230 Prospect Avenue. "Even with a negative reaction now from the Township, we shouldn't think they won't be receptive in the future to a joint building."

HERE COMES SANTA CLAUS AGAIN. For the 18th straight year, Henry Schultz will be Princeton's personal Santa Claus. Although blind and 82 years of age, he will receive telephone calls from children throughout the area from 1 to 5 and from 7 to 9 every day of the week now through Christmas Eve. He may be reached at 924-3883.

"Two municipal buildings headquarters, if this is found would cement the difference between Borough and Township," said H. Philip Minis, 74 Wilson Road. "Did the Township flatly turn down a joint building?"

"If we're looking for a potentially consolidated municipal building, nothing we're proposing would upset that concept," replied Mayor Patterson. He added, however, that the findings of the Dilley report and the results of the school merger vote suggested that Princeton was a long way from consolidation.

He pointed out that tentative sketches for a new Borough Hall include quarters for a united Borough/Township health department, the full-time planning consultant suggested by the Dilley report, and joint civil defense disaster.

Sees More Co-operation. "I used to agree with what Mr. English has said," remarked Councilman Enoch Durbin. "But I've reversed myself. I think there may be more co-operation with the Township than we have now." Councilman Joseph Strayer said that he, too, had felt Mr. Durbin's reluctance but had come around to the idea.

Mayor Patterson told Mr. Minis that, although he had not asked Township Mayor Carl C. Schafer for a flat statement, the two mayors had agreed that it would not be a good idea to have two parallel sets of municipal functions—police, administration, etc.—in the same building.

Councilman William H. Walker said the new Borough Hall had been planned not only with the Borough's growth in mind, but with consolidation in mind as well, although Mayor Patterson hastily added that the new building would not be larger than what the Borough now needs.

"I want to have it on the record," stated Councilman Strayer "that we are not foreclosing future discussions with the Township when feasible."

A model of the suggested Borough Hall was on view. The architect, Henry Jandi, also exhibited tentative sketches showing a building completely separate from the Miss Fine's gym that was left standing, and including a reflecting pool to provide water for air-conditioning.

Housing Needed. Council heard David Hapgood, for PAHR, repeat PAHR's concern about middle-income housing. "It is the greatest social problem in Princeton today," Mr. Hapgood stated, and Mayor Patterson said, "I worry about the lack of adequate housing, but I am sure about the solution." He suggested that a concentration of apartments in the business district—house-ing built over parking lots—might create many problems. Mayor Patterson then reported that he had written to the Borough Housing Authority about the range of its responsibilities and had been told that a role in middle-income housing was "legally beyond the scope" of the Authority.

However, he said the Authority was eager to see if some arrangement could be evolved and was about to begin public housing discussions with the Township which could we'll include mid-income housing.

Mr. Hapgood charged that the Borough had "surrendered to the automobile," and had more concern for cars and parking lots than for people. Mr. Walker retorted that providing parking was itself con-

News Of The THEATRES

IN MCCARTER PRODUCTION: Rosemary LaPlaca appears as the Spanish Dancer in "The Nutcracker," due on stage at McCarter this Friday and Saturday. For a report on the scope of such a community undertaking, see "This Is Princeton," page 1.

Among the leaders of the era, "King Dwight the Uncommitted."

TRIANGLE IS GAYEST in "High Society." When the Triangle club threw away all thoughts of plot and came up with topical revue, it developed the brightest, gayest show in years. "High Society" rets such as infectious pace that audiences may well be witnessing the end of this era's non-hero and the beginning of a cycle of the satiric revues that delighted Broadway 40 years ago.

The pace is nearly hectic as the students poke fun at students' wives, discotheques, long hair and teen gangs. They take into social workers, overworked Christmas, the "in group" and the girls who come to Princeton to study languages.

Paul Pilcher, Triangle president, carries a good portion of the show. In one sketch, he parks on a log in front of the creature dressed as a cavewoman, who discusses her son G and other matters while she paints her fingernails from the blood pouring from her foot.

Pilcher swings into action later in the wonderful ballad number, "You Got Me Cryin'," silver-blond hair flying, sand dress straining at the knees, in a wildly funny parody that brings down the house. The band and dancing ensemble behind him in this number are superb.

Jay Kerr, wearing a wide smile, long wig and an apron from Grover Lumber, hangs up the laundry as he sings of the frustrations of a student's wife who has married too soon. In another sketch, Ed Overtree is a history professor who flashes pictures of long ago 1960's on to the screen, discussing a-Wanna Weer My Hair Long," sung by Jeff Temps with the band pounding behind him is the living end of Beatles. He does this number with bolsters intensity and the audience loves every wild minute of it.

The dancing is noticeably superior to other years. Choreographed by Peter Hamilton, the numbers are short, fast and often very funny. In the Apaty number, "O My God, He's Got Apaty!," written by Peterson and Kerr, there is some clever halfhearted off-setting Peterson's graceful, rhythmic dancing.

One of the best conceived sketches, though in need of a little tightening, concerns the types and social workers in "End of the Beatles." In this number, there never was a girl named "Lucy" as John Trotter plays her, a real Valley of a girl singing from the balcony. Pilcher, Lee Merder and The Pack are all excellent. The grandest chorus "girl" number is "The Christmas Time of Year." The snowflake dancers, reindeer and showgirls are beyond belief. Also worth special mention are the sketches, "The United States Department of Youth" and the Kerr-Karpelman entreat, "The Ballade of Annie Lenore."

Send a Gift of Liquor to a Friend

Want to send fine champagne, a decanter of gift bourbon or a fine Scotch to a friend across the country?

Through Variety, Wine and Game, The Celler and other liquor stores in Princeton, you may now do just that. Liquor Gift Service is a nationwide delivery system arranged for the gift to be delivered by another Liquor Store of your choice and your bottle. The store will arrange for the gift to be delivered by another Liquor Gift Service member in the city where your friend lives. You can specify the date of delivery and you can enclose a message card. Pay the liquor store the cost of the gift in the city where it is to be delivered — the store will be able to tell you what that is. Liquor prices vary from town to town so you know. You add to the cost a $1.00 service fee, which remains the same no matter how large an order you place.

The list of choices you have is a wide one, representing the best of the distilleries and the nationally advertised wines. The service is available coast to coast.

IT'S NEW To Us

BOAK'S HEAD, ANYONE?

A Toast to Christmas, The best Christmas dinner we know about will be served at the home of a lucky hunter who bagged a deer not long ago, but if venison isn't scheduled for your table this Christmas, you can still dine pretty well and we don't mean chopped sirloin, either.

From Lyons' Market or The Food Mart, you may order a goose or pheasant to roast or perhaps a massive standing rib roast to bring in with the Yorkshire pudding. The Del packs its pleasant whole into Burgundy and stuffs it into a big can, thereby saving you a lot of work. Pleasant idea if there will be only two of you for Christmas day.

Strasbourg liver pate, the Bocoffier Pacific brown pate or smoked salmon from the Del would start things off well, and don't forget to keep the fresh Beluga caviar from Del or Gourmet refrigerated and under lock and key. (Got a refrigerator you can leak. No you need with this king's ransom caviar.)

The Gourmet, to save you hours of frustration, has laid in a few cans of chestnuts, all cooked and ready for your cooking. They are whole or pureed, whichever you prefer. After-dinner coffee, Christmas Day, should be the Gourmet's own packaged coffee, designed to match the Moline electric grinder, which you opened earlier on Christmas morning. It's $9.95 for one of the best designed and most efficient little machines you ever saw. The coffee it produces spoils you for anything else.

End of the Menu, Christmas dessert? Well, there's no end to it all — if you will choose Louise Mass' Irish fruit cake with whiskey (also available in a two-pound cake). Fanny Farmer's richer fruit cake at Viedt's will appeal to others, and maybe you'd like the Morton's mince pie at Davidson's.

Hardsauce, already made and packed into a little container like cottage cheese, will save time on Christmas Day. Janscom's has it, $2.00.

For the children, you've bought those icecream snowballs with candle and hollyberries, at Jack and Jill, Louise Mass and Viedt's, four to a package. Jack and Jill will order them in quantity along with the green ice-cream Christmas trees. French icecream from Costa is the year-round Viedt's favorite.

If the children have room, that is, after eating the gingerbread house with its frosting and candy, from Village Bakery, Laureneville. Houses are $8 each, and that's SOME house. Gourmet's gingerbread houses are smaller, at $3. Gingerbread boys are at Gourmet, too, so they can hang on the tree. The gingerbread is made by the same company that makes that wonderful sherbert — Sarah Lingwood.

THE FULL GLASS

Drink and Be Merry. Back with the adults, we stop for an after-dinner liqueur and here the choice begins and never ends. By the time you've toured the liquor stores and examined the liquors, wines, Scotch and gift decanters, you're ready for a good cup of hot black coffee. But here we go . . .

As you know, the traditional gift decanters are the same in every store, but each store chooses a few specialties that set it apart somewhat from the neighbors.

Brown Jug, in its first Christmas, likes best the Seagram Crown Royal, two gallons of superb Scotch in a high crown bottle. A half-gallon of Dry Sack at $9.95 wouldn't be bad, either. A 21-year-old Scotch, old enough to vote and old enough to make you feel young again, is a true Christmas prize. It's Whyte and Mackays.

Liqueurs at Brown Jug might be Sambuca or the Marie Brizard cordials. Deinhard's extra-dry sparkling wine is the recommended sparkling at Brown Jug. How about giving Charles Krug rose, white and red wine all in a box?

At The Celler, they roll out a barrel of Barolo Vintage Chianti and then spin for the four-tiered wire wheel, stacked with all kinds of champagnes and roses. (Did you know about Great Western's screw-top? Greatest thing in champagne since the bubble.)

Ice wine, made from grapes picked in Germany on the morning of the first frost, is $18.75 at The Celler. This apparently happened only once in a century or so, for some reason. A $34 wine — sip it slowly, please! — comes from white grapes individually picked at the last possible moment of ripeness — a Monsieur Henri selection at The Celler.

Six bottles of Henckels in a straw basket would be fun, and you can use the basket later. One Celler customer uses it to hold her dog's accessories when she takes him to be shown. Any other ideas?

One Minute to Midnight

Last-minute Christmas buying confounds us all, and perhaps these last-minute ideas can help you out. We don't mean that the stores involved are open until midnight, for goodness' sakes; the term is a figurative one.

Candy gift certificate: Stop at Louise Masci candy shop and let her fill out a gift certificate: the latest piece of paper in town. You choose the material, the person you wish to choose chocolate, fruit-cake, marzipan or whatever.

Four for a quarter: Four fat chunks of chocolate have been packed by Russell Stover into a tidy little box just the right size to slip into a corner of your suitcase. If you're going off for a Christmas visit, 35c.

Gingerbread Man: Hanscom's bakery on lower Palmer Square, has gingerbread Santas and gingerbread men in a family of sizes. There's a gingerbread horse, too: 2 for 30c.

German Tea cookies: A change from the usual English tea cookie is the Nassau Deli's Bahlsen collection, some with chocolate frosting, others covered with crushed nuts. Lots of box sizes.

Baby Sittin': Gourmet suggests, as a last-minute offering, individual Baby Sittin' cheeses.

Gift chocolates: Fanny Farmer's two-pound gift box, cheerful in red wrapping, is Yuletide's last minute thought. $4.50.

More guests than you guessed? Jack and Jill, open until 10 p.m., has Pepperidge Farm cookies in variety and a larder-full of cocktail crackers, easy cheeses and delicious spreads.

It's New To Us

always proud of its wines, and this year they bring out wild pride a German 1962 Johann, Lagerberg Riesling and Portland No. 30 Golden Port, as a starter. The desert wine is Dutch and the white still wine, the Gumpoldskirchner, is Austrian. Walnater, from the island of Madeira, is a Monsieur Henri choice.

Cosinus hopes you'll serve the German Framboise liqueur, distilled from wild raspberries that grow in the Black Forest. Or the famous Italian liqueur, Chianinamar, used straight as a cordial, with hot water and orange peel as a toddy. The champagne at Cosinus is Met Chandon, 1959, $12.90.

Wine and Game is busy wrapping up that half-gallon of Old Kentucky Tavern, the catch that was poured into a captain's decanter. Good for somebody whose taste is polite.

Prince Hubert de Polignac comes with two glasses in a box and so does Gold Seal Champagne.

Ting stocking-size Herbell champagne would be just enough to pour into a golden slipper. The tiny Suah cocktail, for 76c, you can pour over your Wheaties on December 26.

Know what they did at Varsity Liqueur? Decanted the Burgundy Chateau into a cork-neck bottle which looks drunken, and sprayed it with a just-catching solution to make it look old. $1.99.

But the Goldveasler has gold flakes floating around in it, which offsets the dusty Chateau on your bar shelf. You shake the Goldveasler like salad dressing, and drink the gold flakes right down.

Be sure to report the income in Internal Revenue, $7.65 a fifth.

Or the liqueur doesn't have quite so many gold flakes. An enormous embossed silver box at Varsity holds an entire case of Chateau Regal Scotch, 12 years old, $100.98.

Old Fitzgerald in a glass decanter has a gold design, but no flakes floating around. Maybe you supply your own. Beam bourbon is 166 months old — works out to early adolescence, by our reckoning — and at Varsity it's in a gold and blue pleather resting in sapphire blue velvet.

Nassau Liqueur pours Japanese Green Tea liqueur from a Japanese jar of gold glazed print, depicting ancient Noh actors. The creme de Menthe is a Severe porcelain jar, hand-drawn.

Genella Cora and Lacerina Christi are Italian champagnes that have found great favor at Nassau Liqueurs. Italian Champagne, the red sparkling wine, would bring bubbles to any holiday occasion.

A champagne bottle at Nassau Liqueur has been encased with grapes and leaves, topped with a glass stopper which is a bunch of grapes — and filled with Pernay. Reserve de l'Empereur champagne. You can use the green plastic decanter afterwards.

Four Vis d'Alcote, 1959, come from Maxima de Paris. Two Almaden Burgundies come with two clusters. The Dennis and Huppert selection has two red, a rose and a white in the same box.

At Claridge, there are a pair of fine reds: Alove Corton La Bourne D'Amour and Huppert Bonnes Mares.

HOLD YOUR LIQUOR. Stir in Glass. Polymethylsiloxane at Thorne's in West Windsor, keep drinks cold. They — and the matching ice-buckets have liquor labels pasted all around the outside. Flan! Flan! and hand cut crystal glasses with leafy front design are imported favorites at this store. We counted five different styles and shapes.

 hex-marked candles, inside and mas.

Non-Alcohol

For celebrants who don't drink, there is plenty to drink this Christmas, much of it imported and quite as impressive as French champagne.

White Catwba grape juice is on the shelf at Davidson's or at the Nassau Del.
 There's the German "reter"
 J o h n a i s beerwines, most of which label says is red currant juice, also at Davidson's.

Jung's Lorcher, a naturally fermented wine with the alcohol removed, comes to The Gourmet from Germany. In red or white varieties.

Rapport, in its pristine slate before you've added the alcohol, is at Jack and Jill, and you can order the store's eggnog (59 cents quart) to quantity for a big party by giving the word in the middle of the week for week-end festivities.

reigning favorite with us.
 You'll find the candy arranged in all sizes and assortments, of course. We were fascinated by the 17-ounce package for $2 — yes, 17 ounces — with a combination of light and dark chocolate, miniatures and jumbos, Jordan almonds, and every other taste.

"Baci" are the kisses from Italy. You can have them frozen, but who wants a frozen kiss? "Baci" are in three sizes
 — the boxes, that is. Italy too sends along Motta's box of chocolates, delightfully embellished this year by a pair of five-inch dolls dressed in Italian costume and designed to open and shut their eyes.
 Shut — while you sneak an extra chocolate.

Aan apothecary jar full of Danish chocolate lentils invites delivery, too. Miss Mass likes the lentils almost as well as the pastilles, which they resemble. Foil-wrapped, these chocolate discs, in coffee, milk, or bitter-sweet chocolate, among other flavors, are packed into a trim round tin from Droste.

A. B. C. . . . Back on the nov-tly shelf, we find 26 chocolate capital letters, an inch and a half high, on a slate for $1.
 And a single chocolate letter, seven inches high, provides nine ounces of chocolate for some Very Good Boy. $1.45.

A red felt cornucopia from Miss Mass' bursting little shop is filled with hard candies and, of course, unusable year after year, perhaps in place of the traditional stocking.

We mentioned Droste a few lines ago. This Dutch manufacturer is ubiquitous at Christ-man, and Veldt's and the Del delivery, too. Droste wares, too.

 Al Veldt's the hand-rolled candy cane with the unusual green stripe interwoven with the red, continues the favorite.
 Lots of 10 cent foil-wrapped stocking stuffers are here:
 bottles of wine, Santa's boot, little Santas — you know.

REGISTER TO VOTE! To vote in the February school elections, newcomers to Princeton must register by Friday, December 31. At the request of the League of Women Voters, Princeton's two administrators have agreed to hold open house for registrations this Thursday, December 16, from 7 to 9 p.m. in Borough and Township Halls. Left to right, Joseph B. Nial, Township administrator; Robert E. Mooney, Borough administrator, and a new voter, Mrs. Jeffrey Dunshaw, 59 Hirschman.

Topics Of The Town
School Board's Citizens' Advisory Committee.
The committee has been formed to study the future of borough schools, particularly in relation to the Township. Frederick Raubinger, State Commissioner of Education, has described to the group the educational and economic considerations under various New Jersey school organization patterns. Superintendent Chester R. Stroup has been directed to assemble population forecasts from Montgomery and West Windsor Township.

SCHULTZ PLAYS SANTA
For Eighteenth Year. For the 18th consecutive year Henry Schultz will play Princeton's telephone Santa for children in this area. His telephone is 924-3883.
Mr. Schultz, 82 years young and blind, has begun his traditional Christmas activity of receiving calls from 1 to 5 and 7 to 9, and will continue to do so through December 24. The Woman's Club, sponsor of the community project, asks that the hours be observed and the calls be kept brief.
Contributions from community residents and merchants aid Mr. Schultz each year. Merchants or friends not contacted who wish to contribute may call Mrs. T. R. Walsh, chairman of the club, at 924-3162.
A complete list of contributors will appear in next week's TOWN TOPICS.

HOMES, STORES ENTERED
By Burglars in Township.
Three private homes, a sports store in the Shopping Center and a parked car were the target last week of burglars. Two of the thefts, all taking place in the Township, occurred Sunday afternoon.
Between noon and 9 p.m. during Sunday's light rain, thieves pried open the rear door at the home of John Sleschewitz, 277 Walnut Lane. Taken were a set of silverware in a mahogany chest valued at approximately $200; a $160 TV set; a gold charm bracelet worth $85 and a second set of silverware of undetermined value.

The same afternoon between 3 and 5:40, while Philip A. Ashly, 478 Lake Drive, and his wife were out for dinner, thieves entered their home by way of an unlocked rear door.
From the living room, they took a TV set and stand valued at $195. Missing from a master bedroom were a diamond ring, a rhinestone necklace worth $60 and a $10 hair-dryer. Also, a small amount of change and a red suitcase case containing coats from all over the world.

A hammer was used to break open the front door of Frank's Sport Shop, Princeton Shopping Center, early last Thursday morning. It was found in the store in front of the cash register.
The entry was discovered by P.I. Robert Heacock, who noticed, while on foot patrol, that the front door had been broken. A check later with the owner, Frank J. Ferrara, 103 Nissimane Avenue, West Wind-

Thanks from Viet Nam.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
I would like to express my sincerest thanks to Town Topics and the many residents of the Princeton area who demonstrated their infinite knowledge of the meaning of Christmas by their numerous letters and cards. Although the majority came from considerable persons that I have never met, all were uniquely encouraging.

One particularly card was especially heartening. It came from Mrs. Katherine Graham and her family. Certainly no one can give more for the sake of others than they have.

This is my personal thanks to you all, however; let it speak for all of us in Viet Nam, many of whom may be serving under conditions which make it impossible for them to express their undebated strong gratitude.

Children's Books Wanted.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
I believe that some of your readers may be interested in the efforts of Dr. N. N. Ramchandran, one of our postdoctoral fellows to provide books for the children of India, his native country. Dr. Ramchandran carried out his graduate studies in chemistry at Temple University and received the Ph.D. degree from that institution this year.

During his stay in this country, he learned with some surprise that many American parents throw away or store in their attics the books that their children. Knowing that Indian parents can seldom afford even one book for their children's most of whom can read English, he embarked upon a program of transferring books discarded by Americans to the children of India.

As the first step in this campaign, Dr. Ramchandran made arrangements to open a new children's library in New Delhi. Next, he developed a means for shipping the books to India through the good offices of the Smithsonian Institution in Washington. Finally, he found the Princeton YWCA willing to serve as a depository for Princeton parents may wish to serve as a depository for books the Princeton parents may wish to contribute to this practical effort in international goodwill.

Dr. Ramchandran will be most grateful to the good people of Princeton who may wish to drop off one or more children's books at the Y.

Minority Being Served.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
Following is the text of a letter I have written to the Princeton Water Company.

It is most difficult for me to understand the reasoning of our company.

According to the local papers, residents of the Princeton community who do not want to drink fluoridated water may take a bucket to one of your stations to obtain unfluoridated water. In other words, the Princeton Water Company, while admitting the possible dangers; consequence of fluoridated water, refuses to give consideration to the aged.

Out of an approximate population of 28,000 people in the Township, Borough and University, there are 5000 children under the age of 12. Now, it is logical to oblige 20,000 people to fetch water, many of whom may be ill and not able to carry a pail of water; when children could go to some central place and obtain fluoridated water? Doesn't it sound absurd?

Why is no thought given to individuals over 12 years of age? The children obtain fluoride by means of pills, tooth paste and now fluoridated water, but there is absolutely no opportunity for the ill to obtain unfluoridated water. Furthermore, why should residents of the community be asked to pay water rates for the proper delivery of water and then, at great inconvenience, be asked to fetch it?

All medical authorities, including those who favor the fluoridation of water, agree that no one benefits from fluoridation of the water supply over 12 years of age. After all, the fluoride, and there is no possible way to determine the percentage of fluoride taken by an individual. When water is boiled, the fluoride becomes more concentrated, and who does not use boiled water?

Drakes Corner Rd.

Shooting Gallery at Home.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

One of the unexpected amenities, the extra dividends that come from living in the Princeton community, is being awakened at daybreak by the roar of gunfire. Bang! The dawn silence is shattered. The one-year-old starts wailing.

Bang! Bang! The four-year-old and the six-year-old are aroused from deep slumber and go into a screaming panic.

After some measure of calm is restored, we repair to the living room. At the early morning mist rises from the lake, we see the hunter on the townships opposite us.

He is firing low, at ducks on the water or just taking off. He is firing directly toward us, and we see the "shell" spouts rise high in the air as his bullets hit the water.

The authorities assure us that if the hunter is a well-

A Note from Vietnam

A Christmas card from Mrs. Edith J. Meyerkort of 43 Woodland Drive to a serviceman listed by TOWN TOPICS as serving in Viet Nam brought this reply:

"Dear Friend: As I'm sure you well know, it's not a pleasant nor an easy job we have over here. However, when someone such as yourself takes the time and concern to send a very lovely and beautiful expression of appreciation, this entire war attains a value which more than compensates for our hardships involved."

"This is simply a little note thanking you for being the 'Grateful Grandmother' who indeed you are. All my best wishes for a Merry Christmas."

1st Cavalry Div.

behaved one, a Marquis of Queensberry type, he will shoot ducks with a shotgun. And a shotgun charge cannot carry all the way across the lake. Thus we are safely just out of range.

But is the hunter a well-behaved one or not? The uncertainty adds zest to life. Why drive 60 miles to the thrill rides of Coney Island when one can sit in his own living room, surrounded by his little children, and look directly down the barrel of a loaded gun? Is that next shot going to fall harmlessly short, or is our craft of orange juice about to disintegrate right under our noses and shower us with glass splinters and pre-breakfast citrus?

The hunters, without exception, come sans dog or boat. Thus they have no expectation of snugging a duck dinner. They merely have their fill of targetpractice and then they depart, leaving the lake dotted with the floating bodies of mallards and Canada geese. The children watch the dead birds drifting by, and presumably come to understand the meaning of Schweitzer's favorite phrase, "reverence for life."

Shooting was originally a respected and necessary profession. Survival of the community depended on bringing in sufficient game. Some attempt to carry on in the old tradition, but today's hunter is generally different. His problem is essentially a psychological one.

His emotional development having been arrested at about age 5 he seeks to convince himself and others that he is "manly" by donning an orange coat and swaggering around bravely with a gun. It's no use, little boy; you must remain forever a child — unless you can summon up the intestinal fortitude to plunk yourself down in a psychiatrist's couch.

JIMMY DURANTE, as the fabled Smiler Grogan, breathes in his last words the location of a hidden fortune, touching off a chase by several generations of comies in "It's A Mad, Mad, Mad, Mad World," now at the Prince.

Lee Thompson, who directed "The Guns of Navarone" some time ago, skillfully handles the moves and counter-moves. The beautiful pawn, Samantha Eggar, gets knocked off the board, and a foolishly trusting genius, played by Ingrid Thulin, is taught a costly lesson.

Miss Thulin is Michele, thought to have died in a concentration camp. She returns, her face altered by plastic surgery after the Nazi ordeal, and finds her husband, Schell, living with her step-daughter, Miss Eggar. She asks her to pose as a "dead" wife and collect a large inheritance. Shocked, but still in love with Schell, she goes along with the plot for a while. But when she decides to reveal her identity, the film really moves into high gear.

Red Line 7000 (now playing) This is an auto-race grinder offering kicks for teens and immature adults. The emphasis is on speed and love, with exciting stock car footage and a half-dozen tangled love affairs which don't get straightened out until the last lap.

Dr. James Ward arrives from the U.S. with his French girl friend, Marianna Hill, who falls love with a girl who believes she's a jinx. The French girls herself an other day, who tries to kill Ward during a race.

There is good color photography of high-powered cars buzzing around the tracks. Some of the crash scenes are spectacular. There are shots of resort interiors, discotheque activity and plenty of new faces.

It's A Mad, Mad, Mad, Mad World, (now playing) is an exquisitely funny satire on human greed. Its plot concerns a mad dash from the Southern California desert to the seashore to find $500,000 in buried loot.

The Runyonesque cast, pitted wild against each other, include Ethel Merman (as the mother-in-law to end all mother-in-laws, Sid Caesar), Dick Shawn, Jonathan Winters, Milton Berle, Buddy Hackett, Mickey Rooney, Tony Thomas, Eddie Adams, Buster Keaton, Ben Blue, Jimmy Durante, Eddie "Rochester" Anderson, Jim Backus, Arnold Stang and a host of others.

A series of hilarious stunts punctuate the entire comedy, involving vintage airplanes, automobiles, and street cars. The comedy ranges from subtle mockery to slapstick, loaded with laughs for all ages.

STRAND

The Umbrellas of Cherbourg and Zazie (Thursday through Saturday) Two enjoyable color films from the art circuit. "Cherbourg" stars Catherine Deneuve and Nino Castelnuovo as the young lovers parted by war who must await again years later. The charm of this simple love story, the dialogue in song-form and the sensitive use of color have won a number of prizes for the film. In "Zazie" the 1964 Cannes Film Festival grand prize. Captain Couraçou (Sunday only) Revival of Kipling's wonderful sea drama, starring Redcliffe Burghall and Frances Taylor. Lionel Barrymore and Melvyn Douglas.

Topics Of The Town

B Taylor, 62, 193 Laurel Circle, was failing to observe a stop sign. After the impact, the McKee car continued on and hit a parked Public Service truck, denting it slightly.

Pedestrian Hit. In the Borough, Mrs. Angeline D. McCausland, 79, 209 Nassau Street, was taken to Princeton Hospital by a driver who jumped her Saturday evening as she was crossing Nassau Street.
The driver, William E. Sneed, 30, 73 Clay Street, told police he had just turned onto Nassau from Olden and after traveling some 45 feet he came into contact with the pedestrian.
Police made no charges. Mrs. McCausland had complained of pains in her back.

SPUR BLOCKED?
Ridolfi and Ozzard. An alliance between the Republican majority leader of the present State Senate and the Democrat who will be majority leader in the new Senate, has apparently blocked legislation authorizing a spur of the New Jersey turnpike near Hightstown.

Sido L. Ridolfi, Democratic Senator from Mercer County, was obtained from William E. Ozzard of Somerset, Republican majority leader, an assurance that Senator Ozzard will keep the bill in committee.
Under the present system Senator Ozzard as majority leader, can keep a bill from reaching the floor of the legislature for a vote.

The Mercer County Board of Chosen Freeholders, and Mercer's 13 municipalities all oppose the Hightstown spur which would take the turnpike through West Windsor Township farm lands. An alternative, the so-called "Robbinsville spur" would go through built-up areas of Hamilton and Washington Townships.

Turnpike officials favor the West Windsor route because they say it would cost $6 million less than the Robbinsville alternative. Mercer County officials counter by saying that increased tolls on the Robbinsville spur would make up the difference.

Governor Richard J. Hughes, supports the position of the Turnpike Authority, however, he said, "I think this can be worked out," after meeting on Monday of this week with Senator Ridolfi.

VARIANCE SOUGHT
In Restaurant Expansion, Lahere's Restaurant, 3-7 Witherspoon Street, would like to expand its facilities by moving into the building it owns next door.

On Tuesday, Christen Realty Co. Inc., owners of the restaurant, will appear before the Borough Zoning Board, to request that parking requirements be waived. Zoning regulations say that an additional 14 parking spaces must be provided from public parking facilities within 400 feet of the proposed expansion.

The restaurant seeks to provide banquet facilities on the second floor of the adjacent building and a cocktail lounge on the first floor. The addition would total approximately 1,400 square feet.

The first floor of the building, next to the restaurant, which includes 8-11-13 Witherspoon, was formerly occupied by Pakman Jewelers, The Radio Center and the Nassau Barber Shop. Only the barber shop remains.

Seek Special Permit. In another case to come before the Board, the Princeton Theological Seminary will seek a special permit to construct what the Seminary terms a Corporation Yard on College Road across from the Springdale Golf Course, a short distance up from the clubhouse. It will consist of a power plant, workshop area and garage. Cost is estimated at $700,000.

The Yard will be a U-shaped complex with the open end of the "U" facing on College Road. Although it will be only one story it will be a Tuesday's appearance by the Seminary before the Board will be a procedural one only. The Zoning Board, by law, must refer it to the Planning Board. Public hearing on the proposal will not take place until the January meeting of the Zoning Board.

ended for one month under the state's point system.

In criminal court, Richard Luckhart, 18, was fined $35 after pleading guilty to a charge of being disorderly. Police said the defendant had created a disturbance on Clay Street while intoxicated.

Charged with assaulting Patrolman Charles Harris on the front steps of Borough Hall, Robert Picelli, 40, 77 Leigh Avenue, received a 90-day sentence to the Mercer County Workhouse. Magistrate Theodore T. Tams Jr. suspended sentence on condition that Picelli maintain good behavior for 18 months.

Jerome McGowan, 18, 4 Greenwood Avenue, Kingston, was fined $25 for using loud and profane language. According to the complainant, Sgt. Robert J. Anderson, the incident took place after a teenage dance held at the high school. McGowan denied the charge.

CHRISTMAS PROGRAM SET

For Chapin School, The upper classes of Chapin School will present "The Story of Silent Night" at their Christmas program next Tuesday at 2 o'clock Wednesday at their children will present "Mother Goose's Christmas Party" beginning at 10.

The Tuesday program was arranged by Mrs. Nora Greenblatt, music teacher, and will be narrated by Robert Riccini. The Wednesday performance was written by Mrs. Elmer Chase and will be narrated by Mrs. Paul S. Smith, headmistress of the program.

SENTIMENT FOR SALE: Bits and pieces of Miss Fine's School were affectionately carried home Saturday by alumni who went to the sale of Miss Fine's artifacts sponsored by Princeton Day School. At left, Mrs. Frank W. Hubby cheerfully takes $5 from Gail Hood, who bought that wooden column. Foundation stones from the old Miss Fine's building are at Gail's feet. Mrs. F. S. Galbraith (right) displays an avon garbe wall plaque assembled from assorted Miss Fine's handiwork by Laurie Vance Johnson. The sale netted — and "net" and "gross" were practically synonymous: there sure wasn't any overhead — $375 for Princeton Day School. (Staff Photos)

The Christmas Bazaar Committee will set decorations and candles.

SHOVEL WHAT?

Snow, Man! Princeton hasn't yet had enough snow to make a good sneeze, but the time will come, never fear. Looking to the future, the Township Traffic Safety Committee has blocked out a list of the principal streets used by children on their way to school and if you live on a street which you know to be a well-traveled school route, make sure you get out your shovel as soon as possible.

Because the Township Traffic Safety Committee just wants to make sure that school routes are shoveled first.

Pour Me Out a Well-Equipped Bar

Two handsome bars caught the eye this Christmas, and we mention them because each one will appeal to a different household: the early American and the Danish contemporary.

Rug Mær's maple bar with its shaker doors is for houses furnished with maple, pine and Revolutionary War period. It's a snug little bar, excellent for a small house, and it holds eight highball glasses and eight jiggers. It's hinged drilled into the top shelf. $79.95.

Viking's teak bar is for houses with oiled walnut and shaggy Greek rugs. It has wings on each side that open out for serving space, each wing lined with black mica. The locked front drops down to give a handsome operating room. The long drawer across the bottom is for vialing sticks, bottle openers, miscellaneous paper cocktail napkins for Artillery Punch. $199.

Nike also has a four-bottle wine rack. Happy House has, too, and a 12-bottle wine rack besides. Ice buckets for the happy house have those Revolutionary War profiles, or cover of white leather printed with playing card figures. We like the tall one with champagne labels and the deep wooden bucket bound with brass.

Cummins cradles your Christmas champagne bottle in a gilded basket all sprayed with gold and decorated with pine cones and greenery. The Christmas punch is served from a pale green glass urn, pear-shaped with a spout at the bottom and three slim gold feet. Garlands of grape leaves and grapes twine lovingly around the loving-cup—that's what it looks like, anyhow: a loving cup.

It's New To Us

A box of Fanny Farmer lollipops is 50 cents. Almond Roca is ready for snacking, too. Vaid's, Miss Maas and Marsh's all carry Kemp's salted nuts, the former two stores in bulk and Marsh's in boxes. A nut mix from Kemp is $1.69, and a de-luxe mix is $2.29 pound.

Chocolates. Grenoble, France, is the source for the Noir fourreurs at the Del—delectable little chocolates formed in the shape of nuts. In this store, there is more Lindt and Tobler chocolate than there is in Switzerland, and in most cases, the boxes themselves are as delicious as the chocolates.

Lindt has wonderful photographs who takes colored photographs of Swiss scenes for Lindt to mount on its boxes, and when you see the huge red poppies and the daisies in the snow, or the close-up of the Alpine flower and the rock or the long panoramas of the Alps with flowers in the foreground—well you won't forget to lift the lid and reach for a chocolate, but we'll keep you the box.

Lindt's greatest success is an 18-inch-long box for $15 with a dramatic, single candle on the cover, richly ornamented for Christmas and photographed in full color. Tobler isn't letting Alpine flowers grow under its feet, however. Its photographs takes close-ups of flowers, 18 of them, each one to go on a single square of chocolate in the box.

Sackling Marzipan. Marzipan piglets are supposed to bring luck, and the Del apparently has them and it in quantity. Chocolate-covered marzipan can hang on the tree and regular cakes of marzipan can be worked by you as you wish. Soupe sets, with cigarette pipe and four cigars, foil concealing the chocolate, are fun for a young stocking. Little Red Riding Hood's cast of characters in pastel sugar are too pretty to eat—but watch me try.

Circles of dried fruit for $3, or a great oblong box of dried fruit for $7.50. or the Del's gift to people who aren't chocolate fans. Have you seen the giant desert sprouts from Australia. $20 a box or the Chinese figs?

At Marsh's, Stephen Whitman, a kinsman of the sampler family, is prominently displayed, although if you're a sampler man, the familiar box is still there. But give three special Stepmans a try.

At Hanson's Bakery, everything is Hanson's own product, even the candy and the $1.69-pound chocolates. A jelly assortment is in iridescent Christmas reds and greens for young nibblers. A splendid Captain's Chest six inches long is filled with old-fashioned candy mix that can be used long after.

The Tang of Mint. "Ice-spr" mints are all green with a mint jelly center. Hanson's put place, in cellophane bags, combines all kinds of whole, shelled nuts into a glazed candy. And to encounter three toll smoking sets, which we mentioned above (Hanson's has them too), there are primitive sewing sets of toll-wrapped chocolate.

Santa's bag at Davidson's. We found a little foil tin, ornamental oval and such, all chocolate inside because we peeked. A box of chocolates from Davidson's is 69 cents a pound, and you can buy six chocolate-voiced Santas for 29 cents.

Don't forget that stores like Davidson's will assemble baskets of candied and fruits for Christmas giving. The Del makes a particular specialty of this, and the empty baskets are invitingly lined up along the wall. Other baskets have already been filled by the Del, to save your imagination.

Brie ("crust on fromage de lait," says the wrapping), Hickory Valley Farm Pennsylvania Dutch soft cheese, and so on from France, Monterey Jack and Vermont Cheddar from coast to coast, or the big three-pound-12-ounce Edam in its big metal ball—there are some cheese ideas from the Del.

What Wine Do You Speak?

Wines and liquors come in many different languages and dialects, but let your tongue wrap around the taste and not the words, and you'll be right.

Irish Mist. The traditional Irish liqueur, at The Cellar, comes in a figurine of the Irish Brigade on the Austrian Army, 1750. (You can tell us why there was an Irish Brigade in the Austrian Army.)

Valpolicella Chianti. sent from Italy in straw-wrapped bottles, enhances the Chianti collection at Brown Jug. We like the BICO bottle.

Levee-lau. by the 24-bottle case, is the pleasant thought of Varsity Liquors. A nice business present for the man who enjoys a good German beer.

Penalty-Pulse Latour. from France, is the favorite white wine at Claridge Wine and Liquor.

Takaki Aem. a light white wine from Hungary, is an interesting addition to the cellar at Cousins, on Palmer Square.

Seotch. Let Wine and Game fill the big $7 Seotch Cooler, get with some good Seotch for every special gift. We'll take one, thanks.

New York State Champagne. Pink champagne straight from that state across the river serves to remind us of good domestic wines. It's at Nassau Liquor, where they like the Great Western Sparkling Burgundy, too.

Happy New Year!

bells $4.25 and $9.50.

Brie far me. Two cheese assortments from Gourmet are $6.50 and $12.75, including cheeses, Brie, Camembert, Grappe and so on. The big pack has nine natural cheeses, plus a croûte of the buy-in Maion Fromage.

A cocktail assortment to buy from Gourmet has smoked goose meat pate, rye triangle crackers, caviar, shrimp, oysters, mussels, hotel peanuts and cheese-crisps, for about $6.50.

For snacking at home, Gour- met passes the "My Maryland" crab fingers — canned crab bits ready for a dip late in St. Louis. Maui snack is the Dutch Chee-erl, those melting cheese crisps that keep say- ing "More!" Maia has a cocktail assortment, too, at Maia.

The Dutch are at it again at Davidson's with cheese-filled logs: a crisp wafer with Gouda cheese inside.

Hettin, Cookie. On the sweet and cookie side, the Del keeps returning to the Balkan collection, reminding you especially of the big metal cake, encircled with brass and fastened with a padlock and a little key and full of cookies.

Finland, Holland, Denmark and England all contribute to the Del's cookie jar. Perhaps the favorite is the Lebkuchen, reeling with almonds, jam, spice and chocolate.

Cookies at Hanscom's are apt to be the tree-shaped ones you used to make when you were a child. Spangled, they are 57 cents a dozen. Parly French pastries in this shop, too.

Maia's baby macarons. no bigger than a thumbnail, are just like the big Italian ones. The Viennese Kipferl with hazel nuts are wonderful with hot chocolate or coffee. Pandoro, the Italian pound cake, and the chocolate Waffelchen mit Schokk (German cylinders for you to fill with ice-cream) are good mixers with coffee, too.

The Del displays with pride the imported Stollen Niederrhein at $5 for 100 pounds, De- mesle Stollen, in two sizes, looks equally good to us. Stollen is the German pastry, half fruit-cake, half holiday bread, with a dusting of flour on top and nuts and fruit within.

Decorated party cakes may be picked up any time from Hanscom's or ordered to your custom ahead of time.

With this, the last of our Christmas shopping excursions, we wish you the merriest Christmas and New Year of peace and fulfillment.

Statement on Vietnam by The National Council of Churches—12/3/65

Policy Statement

We confront with sorrow the profound and widespread war-suffering of the Vietnamese people both North and South and others who are involved in the conflict, including personnel in military and other forms of service and families of our own and other nations.

The issues in the war and possible solutions are very complex and there are sincere differences among us.

Some believe that the military effort should be continued and that unless the spread of Communism by violent infiltration is checked by further military means, liberties of not only South Vietnam but also of Southeast Asia are imperiled. In this view the war must go on until the military results bring Viet Cong and North Vietnam to the conference table.

Others believe that a continuance of the fighting will not facilitate negotiations and will not serve the cause of peace or justice or freedom; it will mean a rising toll of death and sorrow for the Vietnamese people and increasing disillusionment and division on all sides; there is the grave possibility that a prolonged war will escalate further and spread, thus jeopardizing all of mankind; the struggle and especially the bombing of North Vietnam may delay progress in improved relations with the Soviet Union and in agreements for arms control and disarmament; within the United States we also see, as associated with all wars, depersonalization of life and increase in immorality.

We hold that within the spectrum of their concern Christians can and do espouse one or the other of these views or still other views and should not have their integrity of conscience faulted because they do.

Actions Are Approved

We note with approval that:

I. The President of the United States on April 7, 1965, and on other dates since then has publicly committed the Administration to the principle of unconditional discussions leading to the negotiation of the cessation of hostilities and a peace settlement; has expressed readiness to utilize mediation efforts by United Nations members, and especially by United Nations Secretary General U Thant; and that he has proposed a billion-dollar development fund for Southeast Asia.

II. The United States armed forces have sought to avoid bombing the population centers of North Vietnam.

III. The Secretary General of the United Nations has indicated his readiness to use his good offices to bring about the cessation of hostilities.

Suggestions Offered

We believe that a solution of the problem in Vietnam can be essentially advanced only when action is moved from the battlefield to the conference table. We pray that this may be speedily accomplished. We would also remind our people that the application of the basic Christian ethic of love and reconciliation should be in our minds and will as we try to find solutions to this problem. We therefore recommend that the United States, in the interest of bringing peace and growing justice to all peoples of the various parts of Vietnam, should now consider the following suggestions:

I. Continue to reaffirm and manifest its readiness for unconditional discussion and negotiation in such manner as will remove any uncertainty about official policy relating to the termination of military action. Such reaffirmation should be strategically expressed by the cessation of all bombing of North Vietnam for a sufficient period to create more favorable circumstances for negotiations to begin and with a simultaneous effort to induce the North Vietnam Government to stop sending military personnel and materiel into South Vietnam.

II. Adhere strictly to the policy of avoiding the bombing of centers of population in North Vietnam.

III. Seek to alleviate the desperate plight of the noncombatants in South Vietnam by increased efforts to prevent their becoming the victims of the hostilities.

IV. Request the United Nations to begin negotiations wherever and whenever possible for a concrete agreement (including cessation of terrorist activities) under United Nations supervision, among the Governments of the United States, of North and South Vietnam and other interested parties, including representatives from the National Liberation Front; such negotiations are imperative and may be possible on the basis of the mutual interest of sparing the population further and frightful suffering.

Request the United Nations, further, as soon as may be possible, to convene a peace conference regarding Vietnam, with participation of all interested Governments and with representation for the National Liberation Front to explore the issues of the long-term settlement of the long-term issues and the means to give such a settlement effective international guarantees.

V. Make clear that a primary objective of a settlement of the Vietnam conflict is the independence of South Vietnam from outside interference, with complete liberty to determine the character of its future Government by the result of a peaceful, free and verified choice of its people. The choices might include whether it wishes to establish a coalition of nationalists and National Liberation Front, or whether it wishes to be united with North Vietnam (perhaps through a plebiscite), to operate as an independent, neutral and non-aligned state, or whether it wishes to constitute with Cambodia and Laos a buffer zone between the Communist and non-Communist spheres of influence, freely trading with both, or whether it wishes to join SEATO or the free states of Southeast Asia or elsewhere.

VI. Declare itself (the U.S.A.) in favor of the phased withdrawal of all its troops and bases from the Vietnamese territory, if and when they can be replaced by adequate international peacekeeping force composed of military contingents capable of maintaining order while the peace settlement is being carried out.

VII. Make available, through Congress, in fulfillment of the President's proposal, immediate reconstruction assistance and long-range economic development for Southeast Asia, including the several associated states of Indochina—this aid to be made available preferably through an effective international organization in which the beneficiary governments fully participate. In particular, the National Council of Churches requests that the United States Government take further appropriate action through necessary congressional and executive measures to enable the United States to join the proposed Bank of Asia and to subscribe its full quota of capital.

Christian Duty Cited

In a world revolution, rapid change and sharp conflict of ideologies, Christians have an opportunity and duty to be reconciling and healing force between nations and people and races where possible.

The churches and voluntary agencies in the United States should prepare to assist the greatly increased services to refugees and to those injured or affected by the war, and to play their full role in the logistic task of reconstruction and reconciliation . . .

Message to Churches

We address this message to you at this time because of our deep concern that Christians in the United States are failing to take to make their specific contribution to the maintenance of peace in the world, having been almost silent while our nation's involvement in Vietnam increases step by step.

Many voices are being heard that the Administration, justifying each step of escalation as a rational and logical necessity to our long-time policy of the containment of Communism: radical voices in the university community and elsewhere calling for withdrawal from Southeast Asia and even sometimes for a victory for the Viet Cong and North Vietnam; and a predominantly conservative and militaristic voices pressing the Government to unleash our bombers with our overwhelming power to blast Hanoi and even the Peoples Republic of China if necessary, their appeal becoming more salubrious with the release of each casualty list of young Americans.

More and more the mass media begin to reflect a psychology of inevitable war, so that every criticism of United States policy from any quarter is made to sound like treason on the ground that it gives aid and comfort to the enemy.

The reason Christians need a specific responsibility to speak and to criticize is that they have a loyalty to God which must transcend every other loyalty, and they belong to one family with all other Christians on all six continents. At the same time they seek to be loyal citizens of their nation.

Support Is Noted

We of the general board support the Government and Administration, especially in the following aspects of its policy in Vietnam:

I. So far it has been a restrained policy even though great pressure has had to be resisted against the escalation into an all-out war.

II. We believe in the integrity of the Administration as it has expressed publicly its willingness to negotiate unconditionally to lead peace in Vietnam.

III. We support its willingness to give major leadership in financing with other nations massive economic and social development for the peoples in the Mekong Valley, whether friendly or hostile to us today.

We have just passed a major policy statement on Vietnam which we believe deals intelligently and in Christian understanding with the complex issues which face our country there. We have commended this to you for study, but we must do more.

Conviction Stated

As Christian members of a worldwide Christian family we must remind ourselves and our Government of these convictions: I. We believe that this in this nuclear age settles hardly anything and may destroy everything.

II. We believe that unilateral action by the United States in Southeast Asia will not lead to peace. We must seek with new determination to bring our efforts through the United Nations and its concerned members.

III. We believe that if the United States follows a unilateral policy in Vietnam, no conceivable victory there can compensate for the distrust and hatred of the United States that is being generated each day throughout much of the world because we are seen as a predominantly militaristic nation using our overwhelming military strength to kill more and more Asians.

IV. We believe that the loss of life and the indescribable sufferings of the civilian population of South Vietnam over a period of more than 20 years of conflict and the increasing number of casualties in the armed forces, together with the suffering accompanying this increasing loss of life, should be such a matter of Christian concern and concern for the church members should give strong support to efforts to care for the people involved and to end the war as quickly as possible.

3 Proposals Made

In view of these convictions we call upon Christians in the United States to do three things:

I. The first thing we must do, and perhaps the most difficult and most important, is to maintain our spiritual and ethical sensitivity and keep before us our awareness of the imperatives of the Christian Gospel. In wartime this is often the first casualty. The Scriptures tell us to know for they are clearly written in the New Testament, "Love your enemies . . . Do not overcome evil with evil . . . Do not be overcome by the evil, but overcome evil with good."

II. The second thing we must do, and perhaps the most difficult of these, is to be true Christians of God in these difficult times.

III. We support the efforts of the National Council of Churches in an approach to the World Council of Churches and Pope Paul VI in a common attempt to mobilize the worldwide Christian community in support of a just alternative to war . . .

NOW, ABOUT MY TAXES...
Township to Revaluate. Between January and October of next year, every piece of property in Princeton Township will be examined with an expert microscope and revalued for tax purposes.

Township Committee passed the necessary ordinance last week and will hold public hearing on Monday, December 20, at 8 p.m. in Township Hall.

The J. M. Clemishaw Company of Cleveland will do the job. Clemishaw experts also did the Township's 1936 revaluation, and municipal officials say that because of Clemishaw's familiarity with the community the revaluation should go smoothly and quickly.

Actually, Stuart Robson, Township tax assessor, has been making revaluations bit by bit for the past few years; however, the whole job is too big for one man, and officials in the Mercer County tax office require a formal program of revaluation anyway.

Most of Mr. Robson's work has been concerned with changing land values in the Township, and he hasn't had time to do much about people who added a wing to the house, and similar improvements. It is expected, however, that because of Mr. Robson's continuing work, the final Clemishaw figures next fall will be much less of a blow to the taxpayer than they might have been without Mr. Robson.

PLAN SECOND EXHIBIT

For Railroad Buffs. With tickets for the Pacific Southern Railway Inc. exhibit last Saturday and Sunday in Rocky Hill all sold out, the exhibit has also been scheduled for Saturday and Sunday, December 18 and 19. It will be held at the home of R. F. Latham, Washington Street, Rocky Hill. Tickets are available at the YMCA, Nassau Hobby Shop, Edna's General Store, Rocky Hill, Trenton Hobby Center, State Street, Trenton; Danielson Hobby Shop and at Track-ticket Specialists. No tickets were available, and they will be honored only on the date indicated.

As the exhibit is in a private home, visitors are asked by Paul T. Bortell, secretary-treasurer, to have patience with the problem of awaiting entry to the show. Admission is on a first-come first served basis, with the doors opening hourly on the date of the exhibit. Parking is available near to Route 206 and on Washington Street.

REPUBLICANS IN ACT OF "ACTT" Campaign. The Young Republicans of Princeton will participate in the "ACTT" campaign to collect various gifts and materials for shipment to Viet which can be distributed by U. S. servicemen to the young of Viet Nam. The official name of the campaign is "American Christmas Trains and Trucks."

Donations ranging from new clothing and books to materials useful in the construction of buildings should be wrapped and plainly labeled with contents. They may be taken before this Monday to the Trenton Office at 300 East Front Street in Trenton or to the house of Yvonne C. Lambrecht, president, Sam Lambert, 34 Wilson Road. Because of U. S. health laws, old clothing and old books are not acceptable.

Any and all packages are welcome. Anyone having questions may call Mr. Lambert at 921-8104.

OFFICERS ANNOUNCED

By Lodge Auxiliary. Officers for the 1956-57 year of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Princeton Lodge No. 2128 B.O.P.E. Elks have been announced. Mrs. Carla Perantoni was named president and Mrs. Ann Calkin vice president.

Other officers include Mrs. Anna Mae Harris, secretary, Mrs. Peggy Wisp, treasurer, Mrs. Emily Perantoni, chaplain, Mrs. Pauline Grosskreutz, Mrs. L. L. Harris, Mrs. Mildred Scott and Mrs. Carol Robotti, trustees.

LEADERS ANNOUNCED

For March of Dimes. Mrs. Elizabeth Houghtonville and Mrs. Gale D. Snook have been selected to lead the 1956 March of Dimes campaign in Plainboro. Mrs. Houghtonville will work as mail campaign chairman and Mrs. Snook will act as Mothers' March chairman. Mrs. Houghtonville has 12 years of experience as March of Dimes chairman in Plainboro. Mrs. Snook holds her position for the second year. She is a former member of the Plainboro Board of Education and is active in the Presbyterian Church of Plainboro and the Middlesex County 4-H Clubs.

TREES FOR SALE

In Somerset County. Close to 600 members of the Somerset County 4-H will participate in the sale of 3000 Christmas trees and a like number of wreaths before Christmas. Proceeds will go to the proposed 4-H Center in Bridgewater.

Sites selected include the New Jersey Hospital Association on Route 206 in Montgomery (opposite Princeton Airport) and opposite the Belle Mead Garage on Route 206. They will be open daily from 3 to 9 and Saturday and Sunday from 1 to 5. Both Scotch pines at $1 per foot and balsams at $1 per foot will be on sale. Wreaths will be sold for $2.50. Members of 4-H will also make a county-wide door-to-door solicitation for sale of wreaths.

ATTORNEY TO SPEAK
For Estate Tax. Seymour Montgomery, Princeton attorney, will speak on the preparation of Federal Estate returns this Thursday at 4 p.m. (Continued on Page 46)

ART In Princeton

FOLINSBEE ON VIEW
At the Nassau Club. On exhibition from December 15 to January 15 at the Nassau Club are seascapes and portraits by John Folinsbee of New Hope, Penna. Mr. Folinsbee is one of the original artists to settle in New Hope as part of the Delaware Valley Group headed by William Lathrop and Edward Redfield, during the early part of the century.

There are but a few of the old guard left in the art colony today and times have sadly changed the lovely, quiet town. What does remain is the Delaware River which still flows between the banks and over the rapids, and in changing lights and moods still inspires the artists.

This river has run through the life and work of John Folinsbee. He began to paint it in the 20's much under the influence of the Impressionists. He called it "The Greased" in which the shad fishermen hauling in mud at slowness, he has simplified, broadened, and strengthened his approach all the time.

He has never found a formula and dried it. He works harder all the time and has never lost his wonder.

"KENNEBEC NUN" This seascape by John Folinsbee is part of the landscape and portrait show by this artist now at The Nassau Club. The show will remain until January 15.

Seascapes. The water of Delaware is calm compared to the water of the Maine coast where Mr. Folinsbee spends his summers. For years he painted from the shore, points of land jutting into the surf, frame.

He pays close attention to detail of construction and equally to the overall pictorial quality. The subjects of his portraits are placed in a gorge scene, a young girl in clear light is seen through a window frame, a knot of flowers and a butterfly make it quite quaint.

"Corry" with her deep lace collar and a bunch of daisies on her lap designs well also in an old-fashioned way. "Tobin," a cont. crayon drawing, is outstandingly simple and full of make-believe character.

Typical of his mural technique is "Vase in Arch," skillfully drawn, quite flatly painted, and highly decorative. The "Kennebec Spring" has more texture of brushwork and, with tendrils and wide-open tulips, makes a more natural and mobile design. We liked the illustrative "Circus," gay and frisky with plumes and ponies, a pen and ink "Owl," and a watercolor in browns and greys of "The Plaza," which comes to life with figures and horses and a flight of pigeons. Mr. Hankinson does a good deal of traveling in his business and he has a flair for feeling the individual architecture and character.

Portrait. It is fitting that the most important portrait in this show should be of Edward Redfield. One of the most distinguished painters of our country, a dynamic character and master gardener and a life-long friend, who died only this last fall, he was painted in his 80th year by John Folinsbee.

This year the portrait was awarded the Penn National Portrait Prize in Ligonier. A race runner and full of stubborn, hands strong and creative bring to life a person deeply a part of a tradition he remembers with nostalgia.

Small quick sketches of children give an instantaneous impression of the subject's unique charms. Strength, color, and what another artist has defined as the important "quality that good painting of every school and age has in common, namely "vitality." It is what you will find here.

As a National Academician, member of the Century Club and the National Institute of Arts and Letters, teacher and craftsman, juror, Mr. Folinsbee has contributed more than in terms of his own painting. He has shared his experience with contemporaries and given back encouragement to another generation of painters who "carry the torch."

Hankinson at Queenstown. William Hankinson of Pennington is having a one-man show of paintings, watercolors, and drawings at the Queenstown Shop on Main Street, Pennington, during December. Mr. Hankinson is well-known as a mural painter.

His murals are done for hotels, department stores, institutions, and private homes in the United States and abroad, largely in England if you like town topics, use bold colors to express your opinion to mention it to our advertisement.

THE LEGACY LINGERS ON: Bob Schneider's choice for Man of the Year for 1965 is an unusual one, but he defends it below. (Staff Photo)

Question of the Week

Question: Time Magazine always selects a "Man of the Year." Who would be your choice for 1965?

Where asked: Palmer Square-Nassau Street.

Robert Schneider, Lawrenceville, clerk at Ulmer's Supply Company: Even though he's been dead two years, I still feel that President Kennedy should be the Man of the Year because the things he stood for and fought for still have the greatest impact on current events, not only in our own country but in the entire world—especially among the younger people. He is written about more and he seems to be more popular than ever. I think his lasting influence was evident last month when ceremonies throughout the world were held on the anniversary of his death.

Jan Gordon, 15 Dickinson Street, Ph.D. candidate, English Literature: I would say my choice wouldn't be a single individual but would be the typical U.S. serviceman in Viet Nam. The known soldier as opposed to the unknown soldier. The guy around the corner who was called back.

Daniel Goldenman, 1903 Hall, Princeton University: Adlai Stevenson. He was a great public figure who gave his life advancing world peace.

Summer Ferris, California, Pa., teacher: I'd have to say Ho Chi Minh because he apparently has had the greatest influence on the world situation on the way it is developing and therefore on the future of the world.

Mrs. Edward R. Farley Jr., 118 Parkside Drive, home: My answer is not man, but men of the year. Our astronauts and everybody who put our space program. They're not only courageous and heroic but completely unselfish in their heroics. They're doing this for a reason outside themselves.

Robert Rabbin, 281 Jefferson Road, member of faculty at University of Nebraska: I here for one year to write I continue to be interested in and pleased with President Johnson's growth. He seems to have grown from what he thinks of as a politician into a president. He's not just a simple politician anymore, although that's not simple, really. I think he's done quite well and I'm really pleased at this.

Charles Meyer, Minneapolis, teacher: Hans Morgenthau because I think he has more of an intellectual justification for the opposition to current foreign policy of the Johnson administration.

Walter Obal, Alexander Street, co-owner of Obal's Restaurant: I'd be inclined to say Robert McNamara. He's doing a wonderful job in his capacity as Secretary of Defense and in carrying out our foreign policies.

Mrs. Barbara Cox, Elizabeth, teacher: McGee George Bundy. I feel there might be some political implication in that a man selected by Kennedy and who was such a pillar for Kennedy is now withdrawing from the administration and is going into education, a field in which he feels he can do more than he is under President Johnson. I think he did a fine job serving under both Kennedy and Johnson and I admire him for going into something in which he believes he can make a greater contribution.

Ron Greenman, Holder Hall, Princeton University junior: I'd have to say President Johnson. As a President, he's gotten so much done for the country. He's clearly defined the purposes which Americans are striving to achieve.

David M. Ward, Manville, aerial photographer: Minoru Yamashita. Anyone who can put up an original building like the Woodrow Wilson building on a university campus like this must have great talent and great ability. He's no longer in the shadow of a Frank Lloyd Wright; he's the equal of any. I'd say he's man of the year, especially in the arts.

Mrs. Elizabeth Zehnder, 100 Stockton Street, home: I think Stockton Street. He's initiated a lot of new programs, especially domestic ones, as well as carried out and expanded on President Kennedy's programs, too.

Joseph Christian, 58 Longview Drive, owner of LaVier's Restaurant: Charles DeGaulle. I think he's put France back where it belongs, into a position of world dignity. Before DeGaulle took over it was just a succession of one president after another ruling France. He stabilized the country. He's been a fearless leader and I give him a lot of credit for what he's done.

Richard Brand, Princeton Theological Seminary, student: I think for '65 I'll take Albert Schweitzer. His death this year brought into focus, I feel, what he had been attempting to do all his life throughout his life. With his passing we were forced to re-evaluate his considerable achievements.

S. R. Gonzalez, Philippines and 12 Stockton Street, visiting lecturer in mathematics department, Princeton University: I'd consider the Pope the Man of the Year, what he's done. He's reformed the Ecclesiastical. Through the Ecumenical Council, the Pope and the church leaders have revitalized what was very a backward religion. I consider that his achievement.

THE PRESSURE'S ON: Terry Peterman (21), nearest to camera in black uniform, is sandwiched between two Brown players he battles for loose puck near boards in second period of game Saturday. ## SPORTS In Princeton

TIGERS ON ROAD BACK

With Hockey Win over Brown. At a time when predictions of what will occur in 1960 are becoming common place, it is a surefire bet to report that attendance at Princeton hockey games this winter will be sharply higher. Betsy Rink was at far less than half of its 2,200 capacity Saturday afternoon when a fascinating chapter in the Tigers' long dormant role in the sport was written, and those who sat in on the proceedings will spread the word further that developments should be seen in person.

The story had all the ingredients of a Jack-the-giant-killer drama. On hand to take the first step in defense of its Ivy League title was a Brown team that retained many of the players who carried the Bruins to the finals of the eastern tournament last winter and to the consolation round of the national championship. Opposing it was a Princeton sextet which was 9-16 a year ago and all of its predecessors of the past decade in failing to top the 500 mark.

But to the astonishment of those present, the easy-4 lead in which Brown romped in the opening period was not the forerunner of another one-sided defeat. Rather, it was the springboard for a three-goal second period Tiger rally that deadlocked the score and was then capped by a 6-5 triumph to ice the cake, both of Princeton's final two tallies found the mark while the Orange and Black was a man short.

The result was a somewhat astounding 6-5 triumph which was a tribute to the organizational ability of Coach John Wilson, brand new to his squad as recently as November 1, and to the team's eagerness to play hustling hockey. Today the hard core of faithful Rink Rats who have watched the ebb and flow of Princeton hockey fortunes have as their lone regret the fact that a schedule quirk lists only one home game between now and January 29.

Tigers Trail Quickly. Behind as early as 34 seconds of the first period, and by 4-1 less than eight minutes gone the Tigers' comeback was truly remarkable against the heavily-favored visitors. Grammie Flanders replaced Jimmy Mays in the goal at the start of the second period, and the Tigers began to dominate action almost immediately.

Holdings a visible territorial advantage almost without a break, they drew even on goals by Captain Buss Hall, Mike Spence and sophomore Terry Peterman. More than any particular play pattern, the scoring in each case was the result of ability to stay on top of the puck and beat the Brown defenders to the next thrust.

Princeton picked up four penalties in the first period, normally a costly experience in a tie game, but the personnel advantage that Brown enjoyed actually handicapped the visitors. Pressing to avoid a deadlock, the Bruins were twice caught with all five of their skaters inside the Princeton blue line.

Taking a pass from Terry Peterman, Mike Spence skated in on goalie Dave Ferguson alone, beating him with a surprisingly soft shot but one that was perfectly angled at the left corner of the cage as he skated by toward the right. The tie-breaker came at 9:44 with Bert Kanneken off the ice for a leg-check.

Just over four minutes later, the situation was virtually duplicated when Mike Peterman was asked to sit out two minutes for a body check in the offensive zone. Brother Terry intercepted a pass at the Tigers' blue line, skated in on Ferguson and fired a hard shot that the Bruin goalie blocked with his pads. He could not, however, control the rebound and Buss Hall jobbed it in from six feet out to make it 6-4.

It was just as well. Bert Bruiser was called for interference with 1:19 to go and this time, the losers' frantic attack paid off. Captain Bruce Darling beating Flanders from just outside the crease with 30 seconds left. Brown pulled its goalie, but Princeton swarmed all over the luck child, and clock ran its remaining course.

Wilson Was Welcome. One major change that Wilson has effected, plus the intangible in the form of a high morale that arrival of a well-regarded new coach on the scene can produce, are the basic ingredients of Princeton success to date. Working for the Tigers, too. —Continued on Page 38 was the fact that they lost far less in the graduating class than they gained in such sophomores as John Ritchie and Terry Peterman and the return of senior defenceman Cam Newborn after a year on the sidelines with an injury.

The principal shift — a gamble on Wilson's part — was that it weakened a defensive corps of no more than ordinary ability — was the conversion of Hall into a forward line in two years of playing point. He had scored only once: In the major upset of Brown, he turned the hat trick while skating on a line with Gordy Gladman and Charlie McMillan to give the Tigers attacking units of consistent ability for the by life in the immediate future. The entire defense

Earlier in the week, the first is uncertain; success depends Princeton victory of the season had come as a 9-4 rout of a mediocre Army team. Nine different players scored as the Tigers overcame a brief deficit early and broke the game open before it was half over. Midweek games were on tap this week against Boston College Wednesday night and Providence Thursday — both on the road. A holiday tournament at Buffalo involving Dartmouth, Harvard, Princeton and Yale is scheduled for New Year's weekend and the Tigers will not play here again until January 12 against Colgate.

Princeton's resurgence will undoubtedly have its limits, and it still remains wholly unlikely that it will make a running game of the future. The entire defense on a level play that Flanagan showed against Brown — a pitch he cannot invariably be expected to maintain. There is also a continuing tendency to draw penalties through inexperience — rules infraction the players are not even aware they have committed when the whistle blows.

The corner has, however, been turned and at the moment it matters little how long the road is that lies ahead. As they walked out into the cold rain Saturday, the Hink Rate were grinning from ear to ear, and no one had seen that around here in long time.

IVY VS. BIG TEN

Illinois Next for Tigers. The question of whether Ivy League basketball without a Big Ten rivalry on its side can handle Big Ten basketball will be returned Saturday night when Princeton plays Illinois. The contest will be staged on a neutral court in Chicago, and off that advantage in invading the opposition's home state, the Tigers are about as even bet to win.

They will go into the contest with a 4-1 record, having defeated Navy Saturday but lost to a victim in headlining upset by Rutgers on Monday. Illinois is no better than 2-3 against somewhat stiffer opposition.

The Big Ten quintet's most recent triumph was a 96-88 defeat of previously undefeated West Virginia. Two players, Don Freeman and Rick Jones, accounted for 67 points between them. Freeman at one point sinking 12 straight free throws to offset the fact that West Virginia outshot the victors from the floor, 36 to 32.

Like most teams outside the east, Illinois does not concentrate on defense and Princeton's ability to do so may make the difference — provided the Tigers can stay out of foul trouble. They may also need to improve their own record in foul shooting, the current low figure of 64½ having been largely overlooked because they are hitting so well from the floor.

No Trouble at Navy. At Annapolis Saturday, Princeton continued to display the balance that has been its hallmark to date. With none of the big men — Rob Brown, Ed Hammer and John Harlow — hitting double figures, Gary Walters and Don Rodenbach produced 42 points between them.

Walters had 18 and Rodenbach, hot from the opening whistle, hit a career high of 24. He was a great 10 for 13 on field goal attempts and it was largely his contributions to an 11-point surge midway through the first half that made it easy.

for the Tigers. They led 40 to 27 at the intermission and it was a 72-54 final.

Remember When? Dwight D. Eisenhower had just been elected President and was about to keep his pledge to bring the war in Korea to an end. It was the winter of 1953 and Rutgers had scored a basketball victory over Princeton that was to be its last for a dozen years.

Monday night in Dillon Gym, a handful of Scarlet faithful who had the courage to invade the Tiger's den were rewarded when they watched their team win an uphill upset over the Orange and Black. The 68-66 verdict also marked the first time that Princeton had lost on its own court since December, 1963, when Villanova triumphed here.

If Rutgers deserved to win because it gained in poise and shooting ability as the climax arrived in a game it wanted desperately, Princeton also fully deserved the loser's role in the two-point decision. As had been anticipated because of the Tiger's continuing poor play at the foul line, they lost the game there, holding a 27-24 margin in field goals, but making eight less free throws than the visitors.

Inaccuracy in that department (Princeton was 32 for 20, compared to 20 for 20 for Rutgers) was not the home team's only shortcoming. Its play was generally uninspired and never once during the evening was a consistent offense launched despite the presumably insurmountable advantages of extreme height and home-court surroundings.

Because Rutgers, too, was guilty of inaccuracy (53% from the floor) and numerous errors, Princeton left the court at halftime with a 38-23 margin. Don Rodenbeck and Ed Hamner were both in double figures, and the Tiger's floor average was a solid 50%.

Thereafter, however, it was apparent that the Scarlet wanted victory more; its ball control, shooting and defensive play increased steadily while the Tiger's slipped into a series of errors that eventually built into a larger obstacle than they could overcome. Rutgers maintained a six-point lead during most of the last 20 minutes. Gary Walters closing the gap to two with 21 seconds left. Princeton regained possession with 16 to go, but a short push by sophomore Dave Loyer was far off the mark and the Tiger's dropped their first to the Scarlet in the last 10 meetings between the teams.

Princeton's problem gave an insight into the violent contrasts of brilliance and mediocrity of which the current Tiger's are capable. On a night when all five starters are at one time or another guilty of glaring errors, they can play a fair amount of atrocious basketball.

PIS WINS FIRST TWO
Trenton Five Here Friday.
"Anytime you win two games you're pleased," Buty emphasized Princeton High basketball coach Tony Borok. "It's only two games; there are a lot more to come."

The games in question were the opening two of the Little Tiger basketball schedule and by winning both, the Blue and White has gotten off to its fastest start in a number of years. Friday evening at Ewing, PIS outscored the Blue Devils three-to-one in the final period to come from behind and win, 56 to 48. The following night at Ashbury Park, the Little Tiger took charge in the third period and finished strong for a 77 to 62 decision and an opening round victory in the Ashbury Round Robin Tournament.

As Borok points out, two games do not make a season. The Ewing victory was not unexpected; the Ashbury Park triumph was. It was the first major hurdle, the first bench mark available in an attempt to determine, How good is the current Little Tiger squad? Thirde number two will come this Friday at 8 on the (Continued on page 39)

PHS court. At that time, PHS and Trenton High School will square off and resume a rivalry that has been dormant for five years. The visiting Tornadoes may not supply all the answers to how good Princeton is but the outcome of the contest will go a long way in that direction.

PHS The Standard. For many years, Trenton has been the standard against which basketball excellence has been measured in Mercer County. Coach Fred Price's squads have been perennial contenders for the state championship. A victory over Trenton Friday would catapult Princeton's reputation skyward.

Two things promise to make this first meeting interesting to Borzok and his squad. First, the unchallenged supremacy of PHS appears to be in jeopardy. In losing their first opener since 1987, the Tornadoes were shattered. 62 to 36. Friday by Christian Brothers Academy, the defending NJSIAA Class A. Porechial champions. The visitors' only loss in 24 games last season was to Trenton.

Trenton's substandard performance seems to corroborate the thinking of other coaches in this area that this isn't going to be Trenton's year. And so what would be implausible

Four Tigers May Try for NFL Careers

There is a long-range possibility that four former Princeton football players might be in action for teams in the National Football League next year.

Already signed to contracts are Charlie Gogolak with the Washington Redskins and Steve Malachuk with the Baltimore Colts. Cosmo Iacavazzi, two-time All-American captain of the unbeaten Tigers of 1964, is planning to try out with the Minnesota Vikings.

Iacavazzi signed with the New York Jets but saw action only in their exhibition games, having been carried on their taxi squad during the regular season. His contract with the Jets expires at the end of the current season and he has been told by the Vikings who drafted him a year ago in the NFL, that he will be welcome to report to their training camp next July.

Cosmo will have Ivy League company on the Vikings—they have signed Bob Hall, the Brown quarterback who broke three Ivy League passing records held by Columbia's Archie Roberts. With Fran Tarkenton established as their quarterback, the Vikings plan to use Hall as a defensive back.

Meanwhile, Ron Landeck will go to Atlanta during Christmas vacation to talk to the new entry in the NFL, the Atlanta Falcons. Landeck was not drafted by either league and has said he is not particularly interested in a pro football career. The Falcons, however, are interested in discussing the possibility with a tailback who broke records set by Dick Karmelizer and Gary Wood.

A few years ago, is quite plausible now PHS could very well upend Trenton.

The second item adding interest to the match, especially for Borzok, is that his son, Bob, is on the Trenton squad. Bob, 5-7, is a reserve member of the Trenton backcourt. At the start of the season, a consensus opinion picked Hamilton to replace Trenton as the area's top team. Steiner was named to finish second, with Trenton third. Before the week is out, it may well be that there will have to be some reshuffling to make room for the Little Tigers.

PHS Solves Press. PHS combined a hot hand, sinking 59% of its shots, and an ability to overcome a full court press on Saturday to defeat Asbury Park. By winning, the Little Tigers will meet Long Branch, victor over Red Bank, on December 28 at Asbury for the tournament championship.

Five players accounted for all the Little Tiger scoring. Captain Wilbur "Scratchy" Hines led them all with 28 points — a career high. Lou Balesieri was 3 for 12 from the floor for 16 points, followed by Ed McEwen 6-for-11, 14 points, and Tammy Wood, 5-for-10, 13 points. Bill McQuide had six.

Early in the game, Asbury coconqueror of PHS in this tournament last year in the first round, led 12-8. The turning point came at the end of the third quarter when Joe Green-spoon and Dennis Neville, high scorers for Asbury, both fouled out.

Prior to that, the Blue Bishops had employed a zone defense which worked into a man-to-man coverage. After each basket it went into a half court press. In the final five minutes, the home team went into a full court press and double teamed Hines in an attempt to unfrank Princeton — all to no avail.

Opening Game Jitters. Against Ewing, PHS was much less accurate. Showing opening game jitters, perhaps, it sank only 18 of 52 shots or 35 percent. Its game-winning outpouring of 21 points, in the final eight minutes of play, while holding Ewing to seven, tended to cloud the fact that for three periods, Ewing in generally ragged action had outplayed and outscored the Little Tigers.

In addition to the certificate, Arcara received an orange and black football covered with the signatures of the members of the University football squad. PHS football coach Dick Wood said that the award is usually presented to a boy of good football character who is injured early in the season, yet maintains an interest in the sport and remains an inspiration to his fellow players.

Arcara was saddened for the rest of the season as a result of a shoulder injury he received in the Ewing game. The third of the season, which PHS won, 33-0. Despite his injury, Arcara was on the sideline of every Little Tiger con-

Hines was the whole show for Princeton early in the game. He made the team's first six points, accounting for eight of the ten scored in the first period. In the second period, Hines added five more, getting some aid from Ken Lyons who tossed in four. At the half it was Ewing in front, 27-23, the home team getting the bulk of its points from outside with Princeton scoring mainly underneath.

The third period was more of the same: a lot of huffing and puffing and little scoring. Ewing enjoyed a 12-12 advantage in the round. Ewing then started the final period with a quick basket to tie a 43-33 lead.

Abruptly, the game turned around. The reversal was sparked by 6-4 Tom Wood whose performance up to then had been sub-par: three points, poor rebounding and failure to control a single tip-off. Wood sank two free throws and followed with three consecutive baskets to pull his team within one, 45-44.

With 3:08 to go, Lyons put PHS ahead for the first time by one. With 1:38 left, Miksaal scored his only basket of the night to break a 48-48 tie. Then came the key pressure points.

With 53 seconds to go, Hines sank two free throws on an and-1 situation. That put PHS in front by four. Thereafter the Little Tigers effectively froze the ball. Ed McEwen accounted for the final four points, all charity tosses from the foul line.

Again, an ability to draw fouls was instrumental in the Tiger win. When Ewing's Chuck Worthington and Gary White fouled out in the final period, the spark in the Blue Devil attack went with them. Both had combined for 21 points and were the only two to reach double figures.

Starting the game for PHS were Hines, Wood, McQuade, Lyons and Miksaal. Hines was high with 18 points, 15 in the first half. Wood ended with 11, all in the second half. McEwen tallied 13, seven via the free throw line, where PHS won the game, outscoring Ewing five 20 to 10.

Jim Greear, 6-4 senior, played briefly and sparked in rebounding and blocking shots.

ARCARA IS HONORED

For Football Officials. Tony Arcara, 15-1b tackle and co-captain of the Princeton High School football team this fall, has been honored by the Eastern Association of Interscholastic Football Officials.

At an awards dinner held Monday night at the Princeton Inn, Irvin Weiss, a member of the committee that selected the recipients, presented the character award to Arcara. The certificate read: "From the Eastern Association of Interscholastic Football Officials, New York Chapter, to Anthony Arcara in recognition of his steadfast courage and perseverance which set an outstanding example for the youth of our country." Before Bowling, 55-53. A tall Franklin quaterback came within 100 yards of scoring first half Tuesday afternoon when he almost upset Princeton. High School point guard, Larry Tiger, home opener. Instead the college team won.

Franklin's first defeat in two games and assorted thoughts of what had almost happened. The final score was Princeton 55, Franklin 53. Game 2, 55-53. Winner "Scratch" Lines led the Little Tiger scoring. He hit for a game-high 18 points and has a 22-point average after three games.

Ed McPherson, 5-7 playermaker for Blue and White who continues to improve, followed with 12. Ken Lyons added eight and Tommy Wood and Lou Balestrero tossed in seven apiece. Together they accounted for all but two of Princeton's 55 points.

Except for the first period, which ended 17-14 in Princeton's favor, the latter Frank's squad played like the home team to a standstill. Franklin's 10 points came in the last half, collected 18 points, 6-3 Wayne Hill had 10 and 6-2 Sy Miller added 10 points and he received.

The shooting of the Little Tigers did not measure up to their last outing when they shot in 39% of their shots. Against Franklin, coach Tony Berko's potentially fine team sank only 37% of attempts. In playing its third contest in five days, it displayed undeniable signs of weariness.

The hope of PHIS is that the team possesses a quick regenerative ability. It has only three days rest before its confrontation with Trenton.

MUSIC In Princeton

SEKIN OUTSTANDING

In McCarter Concert. On Monday night, before an overflow Series II audience at McCarter Theatre, Rudolf Serkin presented a piano recital that was in this reviewer's opinion, one of the great musical performances of the decade. Starting the program with Bach's Fugue in A Minor, Mr. Serkin played with clarity and brilliance, passages at an unbelievable tempo, yet managed to bring out the finesse of Bach's musical thought, musically and perceptively.

The Sonata No. 19 in D major by Haydn which followed received a thoughtful reading, well paced and expressively interpreted, especially in the long second movement. Most Serkin had a marvelous sense of the formal structure in all the music he plays, whether it be the first movement of the Haydn or the massive Variation and Development of the second movement of the Beethoven Sonata in C Minor, Opus 11, which concluded the first half of the concert.

The artist attacked the Beethoven with a ferocity yet maintained structural balance through his keen sense of feeling for contrasts and phrasing. This sonata, one of the most involved treatises in form which Beethoven has given to us is not only technically difficult to play, but it takes a master musician to convey the musical meaning over the long span of development. Mr. Serkin built a tremendous structure out of the second movement that left the audience spellbound at the telarcation.

Two curiously pieces by Busoni followed the interpretation and give evidence to the old adage, that a great performance can make bad music sound like a masterpiece. Busoni, known more today for his transcriptions of Bach organ works for the piano, was a serious composer in search of a new harmonic language around the first two decades of this century.

Like Regor, he had the creative imagination to follow a "blind alley." There are hints of Debussy, but most of the music seems to be turning backward to the time of Schumann and Mendelssohn rather than toward Schonberg and Stravinsky.

The major work which concluded the program was Schumann's "Carnival," Opus 9. He have never heard a better performance of this stupendous work.

It had strength and direction. It moved from beginning to the end and the intricate under the direction of Sivan Friedman, will provide the accompaniment. The orchestra will also present a selection of its own. With the assistance of the organist, Mrs. Nancy Parrella, all the musicians are high school students.

Also on the program will be the other choirs of the high school and the new Madrigal Group. At the end of the concert, the choir alumni will be invited to join the choir in singing Bach's "Break Forth O Beauteous Heavenly Light" and the "Hallelujah Chorus" from Handel's Messiah.

It was richly deserved.

The Jewish Center is located at 435 Nassau Street.

DR. TUCKER TO SERVE
In New Post. The Rev. Dr. William L. Tucker, pastor emeritus of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, has been named minister of outreach by the Princeton Presbyterian Commission.

His major responsibility will be to visit families new to Princeton and those who have not yet joined a church here. He will also coordinate lay calling efforts on the part of the three Presbyterian churches in Princeton: First Church, Witherspoon and St. Andrew's.

Dr. Tucker was pastor of St. Andrew's from 1940 to 1957. From 1957 to 1958, he was minister of the Kobe Union Church, Kobe, Japan, and served during the following year as pastor of the Bangkok International Church in Thailand. For the past six years he has been minister of visitation in the Bound Brook Presbyterian Church.

The Princeton Presbyterian Commission, organized several years ago, is composed of an executive committee of four members of each church plus representatives from each congregation working in the areas of social action, women's work, men's work, planning and development, Christian education, evangelism and pastoral calling.

REGISTRATION OPENS
For Epiphany Study. Twenty-three groups are forming for the six-weeks "Epiphany Study" sponsored jointly by the Princeton Pastors' Association and the Princeton Christian Unity Committee. The locations range from Rocky Hill and Kingston, the Princetons, to Hopewell and Lawrenceville.

The groups, which will stress inter-denominational participation, will meet one evening a week. So far, meetings are scheduled for every night of the week except Saturday. On the Sunday preceding each session, the pastors will preach upon an agreed text.

Patriarch Here

Cardinal Sidarous, Patriarch of Alexandria, celebrated Mass on Monday morning at St. Joseph's College in Kingston.

The Mass was celebrated in the Coptic rite, to which the Patriarch belongs. Cardinal Sidarous is the first member of the Vincentian order to become a Cardinal and he visited St. Joseph's because the college is a Minor Seminary for the Vincentian Fathers. He is in this country to receive a degree from St. John's University, a Vincentian institution, on Long Island.

St. Joseph's provides preparatory courses and two years of college to approximately 100 young men.

Registration forms, available in the churches, are to be mailed to Mrs. Margaret Parlee, PCUC, 100 Stockton Street, Princeton.

"COVER" HOUSE

How would you like to be the proud owner of a home sufficiently outstanding to have been a "cover house" for a leading magazine? Happily lived in since its imaginative renovation and remodeling in 1961 (and before that too, for all we know), the rambling frame house will, unapologetically, be vacated by its transferred owners in the early spring. And it's much too pretty a home to be "family-room" for long.

The 4 bedroom, 2½ bath house is particularly planned for a multitude of generations under one roof, having a well-serviced first floor bedroom and bath, a paneled library with fireplace as a second living room and a marvelous full basement for more rugged fun. The entire house is impeccably tasteful, beautifully built and absolutely pristine, from the stunning step-down living room with tile floor exposure, hardwood dining room (both with sliding doors to the terrace), and superb modern kitchen with breakfast area to the lovely, welcoming master bedroom with double doors and dressing room. And, to top it off, in our opinion the price is that Princeton rarely — a fair one — at $74,500.

Catch An Elephant By The Tail

Well . . . that's pretty far out; or least, in Princeton, it is. But, what bargains can be caught at the Smith Auction in January!

Are you saying, "January, that's so far away." But it's not. A few weeks until Christmas and a few weeks after that is the most exciting, treasure-filled auction you ever did see.

Of course, in order to put on this auction, we do need lots of good things donated . . . like odd (or even) pieces of china, glass, silver; furniture (antique or new), trays, paintings, sports equipment, or even an elephant (if it's glass, wood, or china). Call: Mrs. John L. Leshner, Jr., 921-6236 for immediate pick up of all those marvelous things you are going to donate. (All donations are tax deductible).
